

Symphony Solutions for Hedge Funds

Introducing Symphony

The platform you choose for collaboration with colleagues, as well as your prime services firm, can help you seize new market opportunities. Symphony is the collaboration platform that powers work for financial services.

Symphony modernizes the enterprise workflow with a cloud-based communications platform that prioritizes security, confidentiality and regulatory compliance.

A powerful and flexible workspace that puts social interaction first, delivering faster and more meaningful interactions;

A trusted community of users in financial services that can collaborate securely within and across companies;

Access to a platform extended by content owners and workflow application vendors apps to better meet the needs of their business.

The world's top financial services companies — including some of the largest investment banks on the sell side, as well as a growing list of their buy-side customers — choose Symphony as their next generation collaboration platform for internal and external communication. They depend on the Symphony platform to connect markets and individuals, promote collaboration, and increase workflow productivity while maintaining organization-wide compliance.

Symphony Solutions for Hedge Funds

Seamless collaboration

Symphony has a trusted, verified, and authenticated global directory of financial services professionals and offers powerful and compliant inter-company collaboration features. Users can set up inter-company chat rooms while meeting strict regulatory and data ownership requirements.

Cost efficiency

Symphony is a cloud-based platform that delivers the cost efficiency customers expect of cloud technologies. This helps drive company-wide deployment.

Advanced security

Symphony gives ownership and management of encryption keys to customers, allowing them to fully control access to their information while meeting all regulatory requirements. This is an exceptional level of security that accommodates the security and compliance needs of professionals in financial services. Customer-controlled keys protect against the possibility of data and content interception by 3rd party service providers or their employees.

Symphony helps hedge funds identify and take advantage of new market opportunities through a collaboration platform that powers work for financial services.

For more information, go to symphony.com or contact us

